He is using the Premier League platform he knows well from his time at Arsenal as an opportunity to re-establish his own stock. If he continues on his current streak of form, then he'll be the apple of many a club's eye, as several of England's "top" sides are defensive midfielder needy. Will the Hammers pull off a permanent coup, or will another side coax him away? He has earned the moniker "Gabigol" a homage to the brilliant Gabriel Batistuta (Batigol) for his obscene youth scoring records. The U20 World Cup is his chance to prove he's a proper prospect, and if he blows that competition away, then he can expect formal bids from major European clubs to flood in.

Sinan Kurt, Bayern Munich

A wonderfully talented Bayern youngster looking to impact this year. Sixteen goals in 24 appearances for Gladbach's U19s last season quickly earned 18-year-old Sinan Kurt a move to Bayern Munich this summer. The left-winger is everything you'd want in a modern left-sided forward: tricky, quick and a perfect eye for the perfect pass. The main worry we had with this team was the ball-winning midfielder but this year we've found out that you're way less exposed using this role. Knee injuries are a concern; he tore his ACL last season but he's proved his durability wherever possible.

Training Camp - Day 1
McPhee placed on PUP list due to knee
Bears outside linebacker Pernell McPhee will open training camp on the physically unable to perform list due to a knee injury. The 18-year-old has been loaned back for the rest of the season and possibly next, allowing him to play and learn his trade. Whenever Los Blancos plump for a fresh young talent and show such signs of faith, it's bound to pique interest.

It didn't seem funny at the time, but two decades on Roberto Carlos can crack a smile as he remembers the events that led to his departure from Inter Milan in 1996. "I had a little problem when I was at Inter," he tells Sky Sports.

49 It was about movement. His dribbling, bravery, determination and work-rate stats have all been bumped to represent his incredible ability to keep going no matter what.

Aleksandar Mitrovic, Anderlecht

A gifted target man with attitude problems? Aleksandar Mitrovic was the man who completed the embarrassment at the Emirates Stadium in 2014, drawing Anderlecht level with Arsenal despite going three goals down initially. He's a tall, powerful striker capable of bullying defenders, but he's one prospect the Belgian club may be happy to sell: He's got some attitude issues that form veritable red flags. Who wants a challenge?

Will his remarkable improvement force Miranda out of Atletico Madrid? Diego Simeone will have been fairly happy with his reserve options at the start of the season.
